The restaurant calendar raffle:

- We need a few more restaurants. We decided what the calendar will look like. Grace will ask Staples to print it as a donation; if they don't, we'll go to a printer.
- Mr. Dutch will talk up the calendar, shop by shop. Donna will get the calendar blown up for a visual.
- Incentives: the shop that sells the most calendars will win a field trip or shop equipment with a value up to $500. Second place will be a pizza party, third an ice cream sundae party.
- We'll try to procure the showcase in the lobby for the first and second weeks of April. Every day, a tally of each shop's standing will be updated.
- The calendars will be ready for March 27th when the Advisory Board meets. Grace, Donna, Barbara, and Kimberly will be on hand to sell them.
- Announcements about the calendar will be made at lunch. Mary and Donna will sell calendars on Friday, March 28th at lunch. Mary, Dottie, and Barbara will help out on Monday, the 31st. Starting in April, calendars will be available at the office.

Mr. Dutch met with class advisors to continue our discussion on ways to create camaraderie among students:

- Teachers will make recommendations and there will be auditions in April for students who would like to do the daily announcements.
- In the fall, there will be a Spirit Week with competitions among shops; there will also be a pep rally.
- Some kind of homecoming event involving alumni is a possibility.
- Advisors will do some research on what other schools do for team-building.

Next meeting will be April 30th at 5:30 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Deena Kinsky
